

“The highest purpose
Of a civilization was to create
Meaningful forms of leisure
For its citizens –
And for the individuals
The ideal to be sought was Leisure as an exploration of the good life”

Aristotle

"Art is visual poetry"

IMARA is a joint venture development between two dedicated promoters, sharing a passion to create meaningful forms of leisure by developing environmentally friendly and aesthetically appealing homes for individuals who, like ourselves, understand and appreciate elegant architecture, design and detail.

Our principle is to create a harmonious, contemporary balanced architecture that respects and responds to the local culture and its environment. IMARA is about taste (a certain style) and the ability to recognize this within oneself.

With IMARA, Stefan Antoni and Rodolfo Amieva would like people to feel that at last here is a design with taste and style touching the quieter, deeper parts of their being. They want IMARA to have a sophisticated resort feel with beautiful materials, textures, qualities of space and light.

The buildings interpret Marbella's contemporary life without resorting to mimicking traditional design.
